

Truncation and rounding on a number line

Truncation simply cuts off later digits. Rounding replaces the number by the nearest value allowed by the chosen decimal place.